The writer evidently didn't intend to lay herself liable to this charge, but she couldn't help it. She could not mention her subject without naming the state, "and to name it was to praise." There

"and to name it was to praise." There was a great deal besides this, however, in the essay, which displayed no little originality, together with thorough and careful preparation. Miss Hendricks certainly deserved the armful of boquets that were sent her.

Miss Meadea Brewster, as the other member of the graduating class, delivered the valedictory under the title "Roses Under the Snow." The thought and lauguage of the essay could hardly have been improved, while the allusions to school mates, teachers and the old associations were very touching and beautiful.

High School under its present management, and we are very sure that teachers, pupils and patrons have every reason to be proud of its success. In the first place the audience was a model one. With unflagging patience and courtesy, it sat through the warmest evening we have yet had, and at the end of a programme nearly three hours in length, it gave the last speaker the same generous attention it had given the first. But no doubt the uniform excellence of the programme helped to make this possible. From beginning to end there was not an embarrassing pause. Each one knew his part and performed it with an easy confidence and composure that is certainly unusual in such young students and made it very pleasant to listen to them. This was the result, of course to a large extent, of careful work on the part of the teachers, no less than that of the pupils; Miss Pugh being entitled to special mention as having had charge of the elocutionary drill.

And in this connection it will not be considered out of place to express the satisfaction which we know is general throughout the community with work. And the outlook for the future is certainly bright. Perfectly graded and organized, with a competent and harmonious corps of teachers, with classes coming regularly forward for graduation each year, and with a handsome and commodious new building henceforth at their disposal, the public schools of Iola will surely rank with the very best of the state.

And the outlook for the future

DR. J. C. BOULSON.

The friends of Dr. J. C. Roulson, and those who were acquainted with the nature of his illness, have known for some time that it was only a matter of a short time when the end must come, and so were not surprised, though none the less pained, to learn of his death at 4:20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. But the grief of relatives and friends is certainly tempered by the knowledge that death came as a wished-for and blessed release to the departed. For eighteeen weeks he has suffered intensely and almost constantly, and when death at last came, he welcomed it with a sigh of reilef such as escapes a weary child as it sints to sleep. Dr. Boulson, as boy and man, has lived in lola for a number of years, and made many friends, not only among the pulls, but among the patrons of the school, and all of them will be sorted to learn that she will probably not return here next year. TIRED!

An End to Bone Scraping. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica stead, three bottles of Electric Hitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Ar-nica Salve at 25 cents per box at Good-bue & Evans'.

BETTER THAN SHE EXPECTED.

BETTER THAN SHE EXPECTED. "Your letter received. In reply I am happy to say that Parker's Hair Balsam did much more for me than you said it would, or than I expected. My hair has not only stopped falling out, but the bald spots are all covered and my hair has grown thicker, softer and more lively than it was before my sickness a year ago. Thank you again and again." Extract from letters of
